Authorship

An author is someone who has been involved in the conception and design of the study, or the analysis and interpretation of the data, and drafting or revising the manuscript, and final approval of the version to be published. Please confirm that all the authors satisfy all the criteria before completing the list below. For further information, please see the Title page section, and the Authorship policy in the Information for Authors guidance.

Where a group is listed as an author, signatories affirm they agree with the membership of this group, as it appears in the appropriate Appendix. If any co-authors have questions about the group membership, they should contact the Corresponding Author.
